INTRODUCTION FOR THE GROWN-UP

HOW THIS PACK WORKS

This is an interactive adventure where you are the narrator. The story will inspire your child to create a made-up LEGO® creature. As they build you'll find a few questions to ask them to start a conversation on the topic. Don't worry if some of the questions aren't relevant – they're just a guide to get you talking together.

BEFORE YOU START

Flick through the story yourself so you understand how it works.

TRANSMISSION INCOMING...

Hello!
My name is
Ida Switchditonandoff,
Digital Explorer and Online Creaturologist, do call me Ida.

Welcome to the online world, fellow explorer!

I can be forgetful, if we've met before click here or scroll to page 16

I don't have to tell you how incredible the internet is, I know you've been exploring here since you were a little pixel...

(Your grown-ups may find it hard to keep up!)

Oh! Emoji storm incoming, take cover!!!

As I was saying...

My adventures here have taken me to wonderful places! I've made brilliant friends and met countless curious characters.

But in my time here I've also discovered some things to beware of! I've been recording these unruly beasts in my book:

Wild Creatures of the Online World

How To Identify Them...
And Then Avoid Them!

My book will help every online explorer know what to look out for, so nothing gets in the way of them having a fantastic time.

Well, at least it WAS until...

Yesterday, when I was busy watching hilarious cat videos (vital research!) one of these naughty creatures, a troll I believe, snuck in, tore up my book and ATE all the pictures.

Only a few scraps of my book remain and NO pictures.

And nobody under 100 years old will want to read a book without any pictures.

Also, online explorers like you won't know what to look out for.

I hear you're an excellent LEGO builder with a first-rate imagination: just the skills I'm looking for!

I would like to recreate these funny little online creatures using LEGO bricks.

Will you help me with one?

SPLENDID!

I'll read you a description from my book and you can build along.
You don't need any special LEGO bricks, just use what you have at home.
Don't worry, I'll help every step of the way!

GROWN-UP:
I have a special task for you too. I'd like to learn more about this young explorer's adventures in the online world. Perhaps you would too?

Look out for some questions to ask as we go along.

Right team, let's dive in!
Make sure you're fully charged,
grab your LEGO bricks and let's go!

Lucky this section of the book wasn't too damaged. Just mind the drool as you read.

The Oversharer

(Communicus Maximus, species Watch-Out)

Got the picture?
Now let's read about how they look...

Friendly and fun-loving, these outgoing creatures love to send messages, photos and videos to their friends. In fact they love to share EVERYTHING going on in their lives.

Although happy by nature, sometimes you'll see them looking sad. Perhaps they have shared something secret with another Oversharer, who is now using it to make fun of them. Or maybe they got muddled and shared private things like their name and address with strangers by accident.

If only this impulsive little creature thought before they shared, they'd be happy all the time!

Oversharers come in all shapes and sizes. No two are exactly the same, however they all share particular features.

Physical characteristics

A very friendly face, many have big smiles (for the camera).

Brightly colored so you can't ever miss them.

Extremely long arms, perfect for taking selfies from every angle.

Oversharers have two legs, many are very good dancers.

Illustration of typical Oversharer

Time to start building your Oversharer.
There are some suggestions on the next page if you get stuck.

GROWN-UP'S TASK

Below are some questions to ask your little explorer as they build.

Do you ever share photos and videos when you message friends. If yes, what sort of thing?

If you take a photo or video with a friend what do you think it's good to do before you share it online?

Do you think your friends understand that the things you send them are just for them?

What do you think it's not safe to share?

Why do you think you have to be careful sharing things like your address, or where you go to school with people you don't know?

Well, well... excellent building!
You really are the right person for this job. They look very like the first Oversharer I spotted in 2005.

Hang on, what's that sound?

It's the call of an Oversharer in distress, they must have lost their mobile phone!

Would you quickly build a new phone or tablet for the Oversharer? Otherwise they'll never be quiet.

GROWN-UP'S TASK

Question prompts:

How do you keep what's on your phone/tablet safe?

Who do you share your passwords with?

What makes a good password?

What should you do if somebody finds out your password?

What should you do if an app or website asks for your name, address or age?

I didn't want to interrupt but my battery is nearly out of juice... so we're almost out of time.

I can't thank you enough for your help!
Right, we're nearly there...

Before you go perhaps you'd like to make the online explorers' pledge?
Read along together with your grown-up:

Marvellous work!

-  We'll tell each other if anyone asks us to do or share something that feels wrong.
-  We'll always ask others if they're ok with us filming or taking a picture of them.
-  We'll make really strong passwords that can't be guessed easily and never share them with others.
-  Let's not share our name, address, or selfies with anyone we don't know before checking with a trusted grown-up.

You really have done me an enormous service. Your LEGO building is excellent.

Have fun and stay safe out there.
