PRESENTAMOS EL ANE MÆRSK

El ANE MÆRSK es el primero de su clase: se trata del primer buque portacontenedores de gran tamaño capaz de funcionar con combustibles de bajas emisiones como el biometanol y el e-metanol. Desde la botadura del ANE MÆRSK en enero de 2024, muchos más buques de combustible dual han comenzado a navegar, lo que marca un nuevo e importante capítulo en la descarbonización del transporte marítimo y el comercio mundial.

El ANE MÆRSK tiene 350 m de eslora y 53,5 m de manga. Cuando está vacío, pesa 47.700 t y, a plena carga, con mercancías, combustible y tripulación, puede transportar nada menos que 190.000 t, lo que equivale a 29.000 elefantes africanos.

El buque tiene capacidad para 16.592 contenedores TEU (de veinte pies) y, si se alinearan todos ellos, alcanzarían una longitud de 100,5 km, lo que equivale a 959 campos de fútbol.

ALL THE 10 ZERO WAY

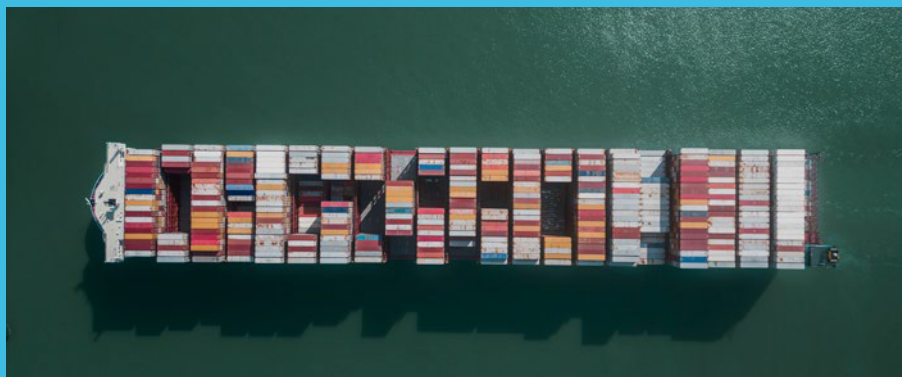

NAVEGAR EN AGUAS CAMBIANTES: LA HISTORIA DEL TRANSPORTE MARÍTIMO

Los seres humanos llevan más de 5000 años transportando mercancías por mar, pero, hasta la Revolución Industrial y la invención de la máquina de vapor, se dependía del clima. Sin viento no hay travesía. Con la introducción de la energía de vapor, la tripulación de los barcos dejó de depender de la meteorología y la propulsión manual por primera vez en la historia de la humanidad. El invento revolucionó por completo el transporte marítimo, haciendo posibles nuevas rutas y dando un gran impulso al comercio por mar.

Aunque las máquinas de vapor supusieron una gran mejora con respecto a las velas, seguían siendo poco eficientes, y no pasó mucho tiempo antes de que el transporte marítimo volviera a transformarse con la invención del motor diésel. Sin embargo, las revoluciones en el transporte marítimo llevan su tiempo, y pasarían varias décadas antes de que el diésel sustituyera por completo a la energía del vapor. Maersk adquirió su primer buque propulsado por diésel, el LEISE MÆRSK, en 1921, solo nueve años después del lanzamiento del primer buque mercante oceánico propulsado por este combustible.

En 1956, el sector volvió a transformarse con la introducción de la carga contenedorizada, con la que los remolques de los camiones se cargan directamente en los buques. Esta introducción del contenedor redujo el tiempo necesario para cargar y descargar los buques de varios días a unas pocas horas.

Gracias al contenedor y al código de barras, las dos tecnologías silenciosas que han hecho posible el comercio mundial, un fabricante de cualquier parte del mundo puede vender sus productos en todos los mercados, haciendo físicamente posible la globalización. El mundo tal y como lo conocemos hoy depende en gran medida de las cadenas de suministro globales. Desde el productor de plátanos en Colombia hasta el niño danés que pela uno de ellos para su almuerzo, las cadenas de suministro mantienen al mundo conectado y garantizan el flujo de alimentos, medicinas, bienes y materiales a personas de todo el mundo.

¿QUÉ HAY DETRÁS DEL NOMBRE?

Desde 1906, todos los buques de la flota Maersk incluyen "MÆRSK" como parte de su nombre. La mayoría de los primeros buques tenían nombres relacionados con la familia fundadora, pero, a medida que la flota superaba en número a la cantidad de familiares existentes, la tradición tuvo que adaptarse. Hoy en día también se pueden ver buques Maersk que llevan, por ejemplo, nombres de ciudades y ríos.

A la hora de decidir cómo bautizar la nueva serie de buques de combustible dual, Maersk regresó a la tradición de dedicar los buques a los miembros de la familia fundadora, pero esta vez comenzando por la letra A para señalar una nueva era.

ANE MÆRSK debe su nombre a Ane Mærsk Mc-Kinney Uggle, presidenta de A.P. Moller Holding, la empresa matriz de A.P. Moller - Maersk. A.P. Moller - Maersk fue fundada en 1904 por Arnold Peter Møller. Ane es la nieta del fundador del grupo, Arnold Peter Møller, y de su esposa, Chastine Mc-Kinney Møller.

LA ESTRELLA BLANCA: UN FARO DE ESPERANZA

La emblemática estrella blanca de siete puntas forma parte del legado de Maersk desde antes de la fundación de la empresa en 1904 y es un símbolo perdurable de los fuertes lazos familiares que siguen arraigados en ella más de 100 años después.

Al principio de su carrera, el capitán Peter Mærsk Møller, padre de A.P. Møller, trabajaba para un armador inglés, y su esposa Anna lo acompañaba a veces en sus viajes. Fue en uno de esos viajes cuando Anna enfermó gravemente. Temiendo que no sobreviviera, Peter Mærsk Møller subió a cubierta y le rezó a Dios para que le diera una señal de que su esposa se recuperaría. Entonces vio una sola estrella iluminando el cielo, por lo demás gris.

Anna se recuperó y, en 1886, cuando Peter Mærsk Møller se hizo con su primer barco de vapor, el LAURA, adornó la chimenea con una estrella blanca de siete puntas sobre un fondo azul pálido en homenaje a su amada esposa. Para Peter Mærsk Møller, la estrella pasó a simbolizar su recuperación y su buena suerte.

Desde entonces, la estrella blanca de siete puntas sobre el emblemático fondo azul celeste ha sido sinónimo de Maersk, pero el logotipo en sí ha experimentado cierta evolución a lo largo de los años. Aunque ha habido muchas otras versiones, el logotipo actual de Maersk data de principios de la década de los 70, cuando se decidió adoptar un enfoque más moderno.

ALL THE WAY TO ZERO

MEJORAR LA VIDA DE TODOS INTEGRANDO EL MUNDO

Como líder mundial en servicios logísticos, Maersk cuenta con más de 100.000 clientes, opera en casi 130 países y da empleo a más de 100.000 personas. Desde sus humildes comienzos con los barcos de vapor, Maersk se ha convertido en una empresa de logística integrada que trabaja para conectar y simplificar las cadenas de suministro de sus clientes, cuenta con más de 700 buques y transporta casi el 20 % de los alimentos, materiales y mercancías del mundo.

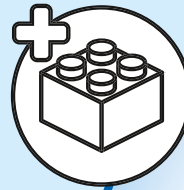

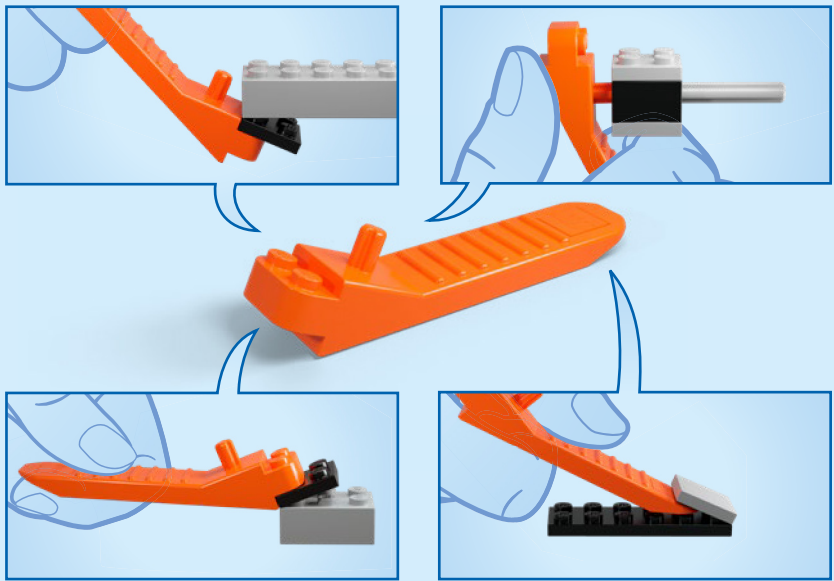

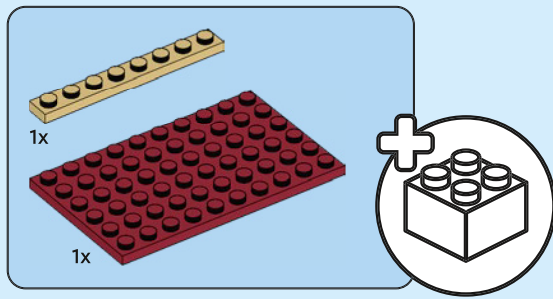

“ALL THE WAY TO ZERO”: COMPROMETIDOS CON UN FUTURO DESCARBONIZADO

Mientras el mundo se enfrenta a emergencias climáticas, el futuro de las cadenas de suministro y el comercio mundial depende de la capacidad de innovar y promover nuevas fuentes de energía. Maersk se ha impuesto la obligación de alcanzar cero emisiones netas de gases de efecto invernadero para 2040 en toda su actividad. Además de descarbonizar sus propias operaciones, Maersk también se ha comprometido socialmente a liderar la lucha contra la crisis climática promoviendo la descarbonización de las cadenas de suministro globales y una transición justa hacia una economía con cero emisiones netas.

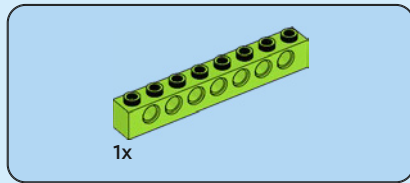

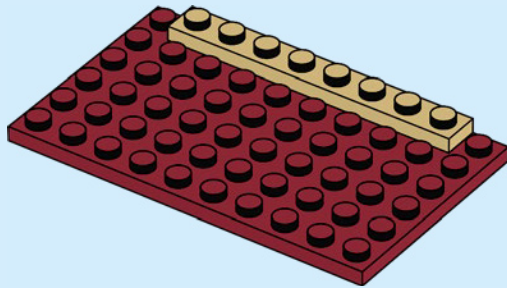

En su camino hacia el 2040, Maersk se ha fijado unos objetivos ambiciosos para garantizar un progreso significativo en esta misma década: en el océano, en tierra, en el aire y en las terminales. Y con el pedido y la entrega de muchos buques de combustible dual, capaces de navegar con combustibles de bajas emisiones como el biometanol y el e-metanol, así como el biometano, la misión de descarbonizar la flota marcha viento en popa.
