Meet the Fan Designer

Alex Sahli (LEGO® Ideas name Galaxy333) lives in California and is working towards a computer science degree. A talented fan designer, Alex has already reached 10,000 fan votes for four different submissions – and counting! This is his first submission to become an official model. Besides LEGO building, he is passionate about photography, football and travelling.

Fan designer Alex, with his original submission

“When I was a kid, I got a box of LEGO bricks, and soon after, I got my first real set. I was hooked. My grandparents also had a 1980s set I played with when I visited them. LEGO building still means a lot to me. It’s a huge creative outlet and helps me feel I’m putting something out into the world. It has sparked my interest in STEM, architecture and a number of other fields, and I’ve met some amazing people through the LEGO fan community. There are so many great themes out there, but LEGO Ideas takes the cake. You have a wide, diverse range of sets, and fans have a direct say in what gets made. I’ve been a big geography nerd my whole life and will never pass up the opportunity to travel. Italy is one of my favourite countries I’ve ever travelled to. It has so much natural and architectural beauty that I thought would be perfect to capture in a LEGO set. This model is based primarily on the villages of Cinque Terre but also draws some inspiration from the Amalfi Coast. I used a ton of reference images and experimented with different colour schemes. I love the vibrant colours and texture variation throughout the build, inside the houses, the stonework and tile roofing. It was a great feeling to reach 10,000 supporters. This has always been a dream of mine, so thank you so much to everyone who voted!”

The timeless allure of Italy's coastline

Italy's coastline offers a seemingly endless line of soothing holiday dreamscapes. Travellers are drawn in by vibrant hues and intoxicating aromas that captivate the senses. Among vineyards and orchards, historic houses cascade down cliff sides, bathed in sunlight with terraces offering spectacular views of the turquoise sea below. A warm breeze carries scents of citrus, jasmine, freshly baked pastries and hints of savoury seafood specialties simmering in local trattorias. Centuries-old villages bustle with life. Quaint cobblestone streets lead to artisan shops full of handcrafted goods and local delicacies made with recipes passed down through generations. It's the essence of Italian heritage.

A playground for adventure and relaxation

If you travel along this beautiful region, you can find the Cinque Terre, a stunning UNESCO World Heritage site of five neighbouring villages nestled between the Alps and the Mediterranean Sea. While tourists and photographers flock to the area for panoramic views and world-famous architecture, outdoor enthusiasts can enjoy a day on the water by sailing boat or kayak, hike through trails or visit historic landmarks. Around the local piazzas, you can join the cheerful chatter of locals, start your day with a rejuvenating cappuccino and breakfast focaccia, or find your favourite flavour of freshly made gelato to cool off in the sun. With its ideal blend of joyful activities and serene settings, this coastline offers a uniquely refreshing escape where life's simplest pleasures take centre stage.

From the LEGO® Ideas Design Team

It was lovely to work with Alex and his awesome submission. We could almost hear waves gently breaking on the cliffs, smell the salty sea air and taste the tangy-sweet gelato as we explored all the nooks and crannies! We wanted to allude to the elevation near the coast, so instead of adding a mountain, we set the buildings at different levels, and an outside staircase adds to this dynamic. Each floor can be removed so you can look inside. Creating the angled baseplate to enhance this cosy neighbourhood was a fun challenge for this build.

Local inspiration

Our reference material and inspiration also included personal experiences – some of us have lived in Italy, been to Cinque Terre or are from the area. This set is packed with authentic details like the rocky and abrupt access to the sea, the bollards, the window shutters and the texture of the roofs with all the antennas and small chimneys. (Are the antennas still in use? Who knows. Will they ever be taken down? Not likely!) The interiors of the buildings look as realistic as possible and are full of accessories, like the kitchen, the balcony bathroom and the marble sink. We even included two decorated food pieces: one is trofie al pesto, a must in the Ligurian cuisine; the other is a slice of focaccia, better known as slerfa di focaccia, which you can eat all day long! The ten minifigures all represent characters you might find in this place – including Alex, who is here as a tourist. We hope you will enjoy your visit!
