// Space: the final frontier. These are the voyages of the Starship Enterprise.
Its continuing mission: to explore strange new worlds; to seek out new life and new civilisations; to boldly go where no one has gone before. //

YOU HAVE THE BRIDGE

■ Set in the 24th century, Star Trek: The Next Generation (1987-1994) charted a bold new course in the Star Trek universe – all in the spirit of the original series. With Captain Jean-Luc Picard at the helm, the diverse crew aboard the U.S.S. Enterprise NCC-1701-D™ discovers extraordinary new worlds and faces legendary foes. As representatives for the United Federation of Planets, their goal is to promote and evolve peaceful, diplomatic coexistence with civilisations everywhere. Through their hopeful vision of the future, and innovative technology, the show, the starship and its crew have inspired generations of Star Trek fans.

THE FIRST-EVER LEGO® STAR TREK MODEL

■ As one of the longest-running sci-fi franchises on TV and in movies, Star Trek has earned its iconic status in the genre. Starship Enterprise models have always been fan-favourite collectables, and we are beyond excited to welcome this version, for the first time ever, to the LEGO® Icons collection. Without further ado, BOLDLY GO! as we present the U.S.S. Enterprise NCC-1701-D™.

A STAR IN STAR TREK HISTORY

■ The U.S.S. Enterprise NCC-1701-D™, Starfleet's Galaxy-class flagship, carries a legacy that spans centuries. In Star Trek history, it has always been a beacon of exploration and diplomacy. It is the sixth starship to bear the legendary name Enterprise on its hull, honouring a tradition dating back to old naval ships, and even the first space shuttle. Launched from Mars in 2363, it was fine-tuned at Earth Station McKinley before Captain Jean-Luc Picard took command.

FAMOUS MISSIONS

■ Encounter at Farpoint, Parts I & II

Its inaugural mission led the Enterprise-D to the mysterious Farpoint Station and the crew's first contact with the Q Continuum.

■ The Inner Light

Rendered unconscious by an alien probe, Picard 'lives out' a lifetime as Kamin, a native of the long-destroyed world of Kataan.

■ Unification, Parts I & II

Suspecting that Ambassador Spock has gone rogue and defected to the Romulan Empire, Picard and Data go undercover on Romulus

■ All Good Things...

In the series finale, the crew travels through time to prevent a cosmic anomaly, reflecting on past and future events to save humanity.

BEHIND THE SCENES

■ The TV series' Senior Consulting Illustrator, talented artist Andrew Probert, crafted the look of the U.S.S. Enterprise-D. His futuristic vision reflected the imagined advancements in space travel a century after the events of the original series. Probert's sleek design featured a larger saucer section, and repositioned warp nacelles closer to the ship's centre of mass for balance. Series creator Gene Roddenberry tweaked the design slightly, including extending the nacelles and placing the bridge on top of the saucer for scale.

ENGAGE!

■ Aboard the U.S.S. Enterprise-D, the crew – human as well as other species, both organic and mechanical – is united in the pursuit of knowledge, justice and peace. Their unique backgrounds, passions, wit and perspectives contribute to an environment where collaboration, curiosity and respect can bridge any divide. The Next Generation envisions a future where equality and reason triumph, inspiring us to embrace differences and learn from one another for the good of all.

"Let's make sure history never forgets the name... Enterprise."

Captain Jean-Luc Picard

"I am superior, sir, in many ways, but I would gladly give it up to be human."

Lieutenant Commander Data

"I am Klingon! If you doubt it, a demonstration can be arranged."

Lieutenant Worf

"The unexpected is our normal routine."

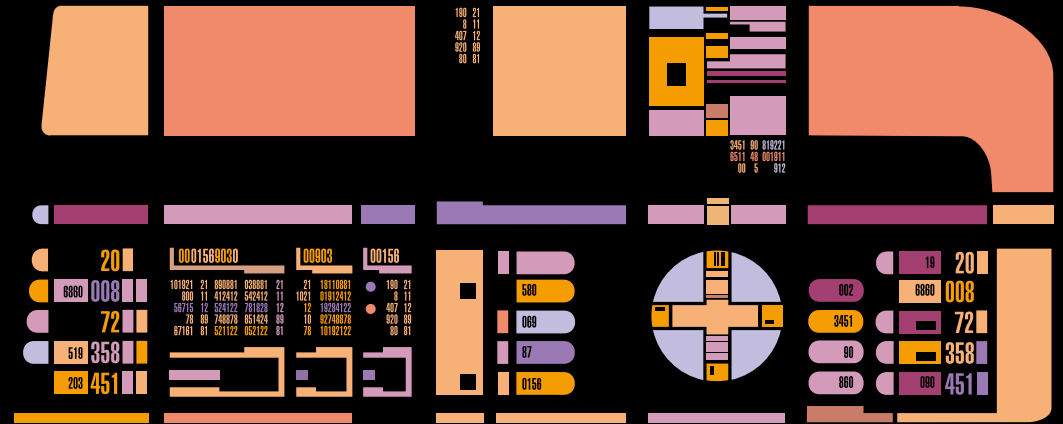

Commander William Riker

"Would you like to talk about what's bothering you, or would you like to break some more furniture?"

Counsellor Deanna Troi

"... it's the struggle that is important. That's what helps us define our place in the universe."

Dr. Beverly Crusher

"There's theory and then there's application. They don't always jibe."

Lieutenant Commander Geordi La Forge

"My name is Guinan. I tend bar and I listen."

Guinan

"This is all just beginning; We've only charted 19% of our galaxy. The rest is out there just waiting."

Wesley Crusher

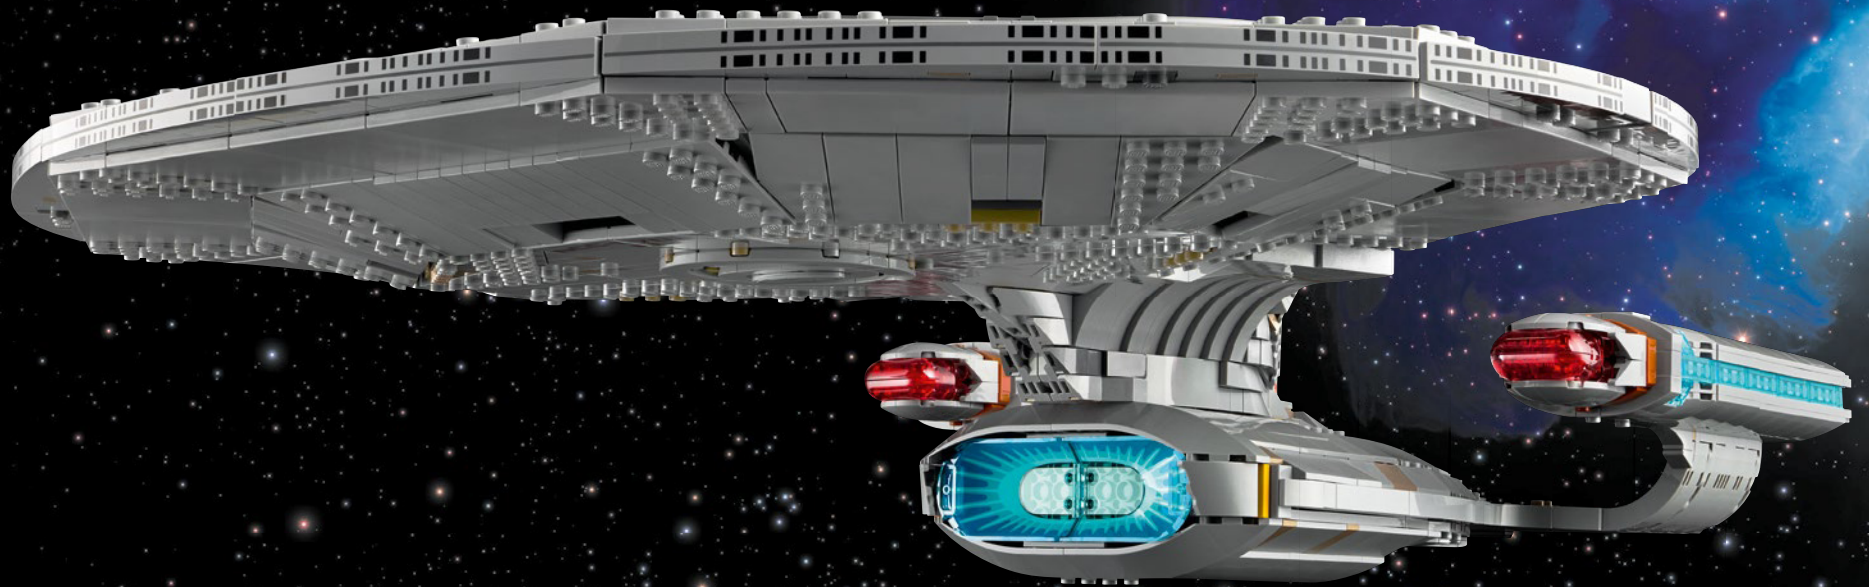

FROM THE LEGO® ICONS DESIGN TEAM

■ We wanted a model of substantial size that could balance on a single display stand arm. The shape of the primary hull (the 'saucer section') was designed with angled panels that add density to the disc; and to get its oval shape right, we developed two new LEGO® bow elements. The two warp engines, connected to thin, curved pylons, and the attachment of the detachable saucer disc was another challenge in terms of model stability. But the saucer separation function, although rarely used in the series, is such a key feature. We applied sideways building with plates, especially in the 'neck' area, to achieve the right sturdiness. The original filming model is covered with windows – even on the underside! Here, they are printed on the saucer section's rim. And as a finishing touch, we paid special attention to the ship's navigational deflector to find the best look for the windscreen element's geometry.

"Recreating a starship that means so much to generations of Star Trek fans in LEGO® form was an exciting technical design challenge!"

The LEGO® Icons Design Team

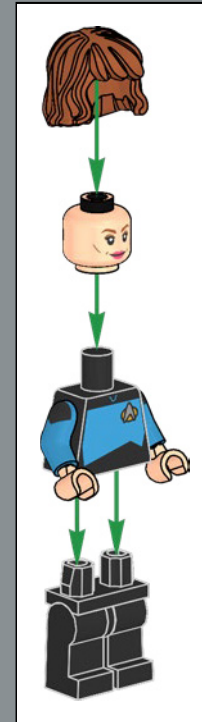

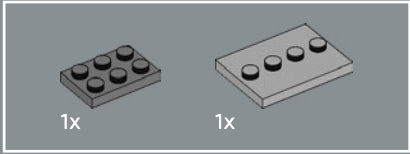

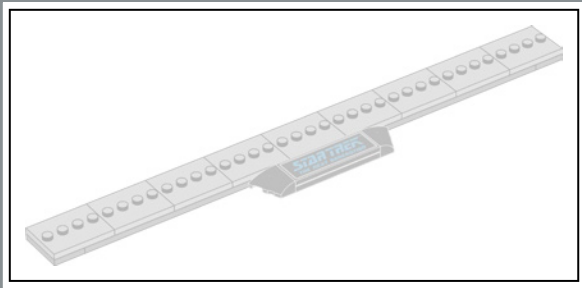

HOW TO HOLD THE MODEL

As the Enterprise's chief medical officer, Doctor Beverly Crusher always carries her Medical Tricorder with her.
